What is it?

Vodafone Roaming Bundles are competitively priced minutes for use abroad. You can add them to your account as and when you need them. By choosing how many minutes you need before you leave, you can control how much you or your employees are going to spend on calls in advance.

There's no long-term commitment. Just opt in for 30 days at a time – and opt out whenever you like. You can even buy a bundle just before you go away. Choose from 60, 120 or 500 minutes to use over the 30 days, and it's as simple as that.
